CHINNOR (Oxon)

PARISH REGISTER

1581 - 1754 (with gaps)

transcribed by :

W.H. CHALLON, "Iping", 69 Brambledown Road, Carshalton, with kind permission of :

Revd. Leonard Baldwyn, M.A., Rector of Chinnor

---

This copy presented to the

BODLEIAN LIBRARY

OXFORD

by the transcriber : W.H. CHALLON

with the kind permission of: Leonard Baldwyn

Rector of Chinnor, Oxon

March, 1930

C H I N N O R      Oxfordshire

The first three register books contain :

Baptisms	:	1581 - 1609,	1621 - 1705,	1705 - 1812
Marriages	:	-----	1622 - 1705,	1705 - 1754
& Burials	:	-----	1622 - 1705,	1705 - 1812

In this transcription up to and including 1754, the Baptisms, Marriages and Burials have been typed separately, while, for ease of reference, the dates have been typed at the beginning of each entry.

The register spelling has been retained as far as possible, only superfluous wording being omitted.

There is no record of Marriages or Burials earlier than 1622, or Baptisms 1610 - 1620, (apart from other gaps) and these records are shown in the Census Return of 1831 as wanting.

The Bishop's Transcripts at the Bodleian Library, Oxford, only commence in 1715.

Chinnor Church has a Churchwardens' Account Book 1654 - 1695.

Chinnor is a large parish on the border of Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire some 15 miles East from Oxford, and three miles north of the main London Road. It lies on an ancient north-south highway, the Icknield Way, and covers some five square miles from the crest of the Chilterns with its woodlands, to the arable lands at the foot. It includes the hamlets of Chinnor Hill, Crowell, Hempton Wainhill (often spelt 'Winnall'), Hinton and Spriggs Alley, while there are many entries from Buckinghamshire parishes, especially Blewlow and Oakley, just across the border. There are scattered entries from London, mostly tradesmen and artisans, otherwise relatively few from outside a 10-mile radius. Earlier much local industry was connected with timber and chair-making, but latterly the parish has been dominated by a large cement works.

A-n unusual name for the date 1872, was Maher-Shalal-Uash-Ban, a parent at a wedding.
